board member; Dwight Twist, outgoing superintendent; Berton Lamb, board president; Dr. Bernard Poliak and Everett Ball, board members, and Austin Sellery, newly named superintendent. (Desert Sun Photos)

HAPPY MEN are Dr. Austin R. Sellery, left, who takes over soon as superintendent of schools, and Dr. Dwight E. Twist, who has resigned from the top school district job to accept a position in San Diego.

A.R. Sellery To Replace Dr. Twist

Dr. Austin R. Sellery, 38, high school principal here for the last year, will take charge of the Palm Springs Unified School District as superintendent in August.

Sellery was named to the post in an adjourned session of the board of education this morning following acceptance of the resignation of Dr. Dwight E. Twist.

Dr. Twist's resignation was accepted by the board last night following his formal announcement that he wanted to accept a job with the San Diego Unified School District.

Action Last Night

Twist's letter stated that he hoped to be allowed to accept "professional advancement" and offered to serve the Palm Springs school district as a consultant during the coming school year.

The resignation was accepted following a personnel session near the end of the regular board meeting last night.

Appointment of Sellery came this morning at a breakfast session, the board members having had an opportunity "to sleep on" their decision.

Trio Considered

Sellery was named from a trio who had been reported as under consideration for the post, the others being John L. Miles Jr., assistant superintendent, and Warren Linville, director of personnel services.

Berton L. Lamb, board president, said the appointment of Sellery was for a four-year period at a starting salary of $17,800.

Under an interim action designed to provide a school chief through the summer months in the absence of Dr. Twist, Sellery was named assistant superintendent as of July 1, a post to continue only until the effective date of Twist's resignation, Aug. 2.

Angell Appointed

Also enacted by the board was appointment of Dan Angell as principal of Palm Springs High School for the summer school session. Angell has been serving as assistant principal at the school.

Acceptance of Twist's resignation last night came on a motion by Dr. Bernard Poliak, who pointed out that both he and Twist had served the district for the same length of time. "We've seen great growth," Poliak said. "I think Dwight had done a great job."

Dr. Twist's resignation letter stated that it was submitted "with mixed emotions" but that he wanted to leave to accept a position he felt offered a real opportunity for professional advancement.

New Junior High Site Buy Okayed

Purchase of a site for a new junior high school plant on the north side of the city was approved by the Palm Springs Board of Education last night.

Algerians Find Peace Wonderful

ORAN, Algeria (UPI)—Laughing crowds of Algerian Moslems today swept through the barbed wire that used to divide Oran and walked arm in arm through the European quarters.

It was the first time that Moslems had gone into the European parts of the town since the Secret Army Organization took over the city with a reign of terror.

The last organized resistance to Algerian independence crumbled here this week when ex-Gen. Paul Gaudy, commander of the OAS, fled the city for parts unknown. The rest of the OAS hierarchy here followed suit, it was said.

Late Thursday night, informed sources said some 300 diehard terrorists who earlier disobeyed OAS orders to halt the killings, bombings and arson, were fleeing the city.

"This isn't victory," one smiling Moslem told newsmen in a European quarter. "It's peace."

Oran, like the rest of Algeria, will vote Sunday in a referendum that will give Algeria her independence, almost certainly next week.

Under question for more than a year because of a condemnation suit that was fought by the owner, Culver Nichols, the action keyed orders for sale of $900,000 worth of bonds authorized by voters in 1956.

At the same time budget alterations were ordered to meet upcoming expenses, it having been expected earlier that the school site purchase would be covered by the bond issue that failed to carry in the June 5 election.

Postponed were two school site purchases in the south end of the school district.

School officials had budgeted $220,385 for the junior high school site, but this was pushed to $354,000 through the jury decision in the condemnation suit, a ruling made only last Monday.

Limitations upcoming because of failure of the June 5 bond issue were indicated again as the board approved a plan for staggered sessions at Palm Springs High School.

Principal Austin Sellery recommended the change as a plan under which pupils could be "moved off campus" to prevent crowding. The plan covers a five - period school day that can be completed by noon and includes plans for extra bus runs to be made at noon.

Two meetings were scheduled in resolutions adopted by the board. One will be at 4 p.m. July 2 for reorganization of the board and its administrators and the second was set for July 16. It was explained both sessions were required to comply with state code.

Soblen Return Encounters Snag

TEL AVIV, Israel (UPI)—American efforts to obtain the immediate return of convicted Soviet spy Dr. Robert A. Soblen ran into a snag today.

The Israeli government announced that Soblen would not be expelled today for entering this country on a forged Canadian passport after fleeing the United States. The delay could open a prolonged legal tussle over Soblen's future, since there is no treaty between the United States and Israel.

Government Information Officer David Landor disclosed the decision to hold off on Soblen's ouster in the wake of apparently feverish efforts by some Israeli officials to get him out of the country before he becomes an embarrassment to the government.

Earlier, informed sources had said Soblen's departure today was "likely" and might be only "a matter of hours away." However, a single direct Israeli El Al Airlines flight direct to New York left here without Soblen.

Three highly placed official sources said previously that Israel was trying to expel Soblen by executive action to prevent a long court fight. In fact, one source had said: "Nothing but a miracle will delay Soblen's departure today."

According to Israeli law, Interior Minister Moshe Shapiro could order Soblen's expulsion under the power of a magistrate's decision to hold the convicted Red spy in Ramle Prison. The government has 10 days to take definite action before the court order expires next week.

Approval of the higher education new bond issue, which will be known as Proposition 1A on the November ballot, was registered by Democratic majorities in both houses of the legislature.

Williams To Retire Tomorrow

Rumor rode with the mail man today as Palm Springs postal workers wondered about who would be named as the city's next postmaster.

Merritt Williams, a postal worker for three decades and postmaster since 1954, retires tomorrow and there has not as yet been a reliable report on his successor.

Williams, a Republican, was appointed by former President Eisenhower. He's leaving with about 35 years of postal service behind him. (See Editorial Page)

Talk about town — and among postal workers — ties three names for possible appointment as Williams' successor, Joe Clapp, Gordon Cross and F. Culver Parker.

Clapp is the assistant postmaster, and may be named acting postmaster on Williams' retirement. But he is a Republican. Cross, superintendent of mails is a Democrat and considered a fair choice for the job.

But the darkhorse in the bit is Parker, who has been prominently active in Democratic Party activities and is talked of as the likely appointee despite the fact that he has no postal experience.

Federal Team Probes Indian Land Leasing

Investigators Of Estes Case In Palm Springs

Indian land leases involving millions of dollars are under "top secret" investigation by a special congressional team, it was learned today.

The team has left Palm Springs after some three to four weeks of detailed probing of such leases here as those for the Palm Springs Spa and the "Carlotta" one on South Palm Canyon Drive in which Mayor Frank Bogert is representing one of the Indian owners.

The investigation has been shrouded in deep secrecy, and until today, its purpose has been unconfirmed.

It was learned today, however, that the investigation took the team to Duarte where Viola Olinger, former tribal chairman of the Agua Caliente Indians, was questioned for three hours. She took such a dim view of the secretiveness of the interview that she telephoned Washington, D. C., and confirmed the probers' credentials.

The team, she learned, is the same which has undertaken the Billie Sol Estes probe for the House of Representatives.

John F. Lewis, acting Indian Agent here, said that he had absolutely no knowledge of the purpose of the investigation, that he only knows the team showed its credentials and demanded access to his office's records.

The Chief

Head of the team, it was learned, is Arthur Pearlman, of Alexandria, Va., who conducted the interviews, after which other members of the team would type elaborate reports and forward them to Washington.

Eileen Miguel, chairman of the Agua Caliente Tribal Council, said today that she had been interviewed by the team and was asked, primarily, about leasing of the Palm Springs Spa site and was questioned as to why the lease was not advertised.

She added that the investigators were with her for only a few minutes and seemed to want nothing other than answers to those questions.

None of the scores of persons questioned by the probers said he had any real knowledge of the team's purpose, but in each case the interrogation concerned the long-term leasing of more than 15,000 acres of Indian lands and the Association of Guardians and Conservators which was established less than one year ago.

The Indians, it was disclosed, have been requested to send to Washington, D. C., copies of all long-term leases, whether made by the tribe or individual Indians.

Ray Simpson, attorney for the tribe, is the only known person to be questioned on the "Carlotta" lease, and he said the questioning concerned the leasing procedures, with particular emphasis on the lack of advertising in that procedure.

Those questioned by the investigators indicated they believed the probe was spurred by some person or group with long-standing complaint against the leasing procedure.

NEWS in BRIEF

MEXICO CITY, (UPI) — President Kennedy arrived today in Mexico to a tumultuous welcome for a meeting with Mexican President Adolfo Lopez Mateos to plead for a "peaceful revolution" in the Western Hemisphere.

An estimated 20,000 people cheered and rattled noisemakers as the presidential jet taxied to a halt on the ramp at Central Airport.

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The U. S. Chamber of Commerce called today for an immediate across-the-board cut in individual and corporation incomes to encourage business investment and pep up the economy.

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A new administration-backed farm bill stripped of the production controls which prompted the House to kill the first one—cleared the House Agriculture Committee today by a 21-11 vote.

The new bill would continue for another year incentive payments to farmers who voluntarily reduce plantings of feed grains.

CAIRO (UPI)—Armies of huge white ants, gorging themselves on a diet of mud and wood, have attacked four Nile River delta villages and forced many of the 6,000 residents to flee from their homes, government sources said today.

EDWARDS AFB (UPI) — X15 pilot John (Jack) McKay, 29, blazed at high speed through the earth's dense atmosphere below 100,000 feet today to deliberately provoke scorching heat and reveal the rocket ship's "hot-test spots."

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Senate, turning back a Republican economy push, has passed and rushed to the White House a bill temporarily raising the national debt ceiling to a record $308 billion.

Committee Stabbing at Drug Bill

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Senate Judiciary Committee whacked away still further Thursday at Sen Estes Kefauver's drug regulation bill by adopting three more amendments.

But it reached no final vote on the controversial measure. The Tennessee Democrat, who opposed two of the three Republican sponsored amendments, said the action "further cut the bill down."

Chairman James O. Eastland, D-Miss., said the committee would need at least one more meeting—probably next week—to finish action on the bill.

The three amendments adopted Thursday were proposed by Senate GOP leader Everett M. Dirksen, Ill., one of them, adopted unanimously, was recommended by the Kennedy administration as well as Kefauver's subcommittee. It would require drug manufacturers to keep records on experience with drugs, including side effects, for inspection by the food and drug administration.

The committee also voted 8-6 to knock out of the bill a requirement that new uses claimed for previously approved drugs must be checked for effectiveness by the food and drug administration. The present law requires the FDA to check new drugs only for safety.

The third amendment knocked out a Kefauver subcommittee recommendation that a drug's technical chemical name be printed in type as large as the manufacturers' trade name for the product on the container.

Injury from Quick Nap

A quick nap while driving caused serious injury early this morning when a car driven by Joe D. Oliver, 21, of Santa Maria hit a divider on U.S. 99 west of Indian Avenue — went off the highway and struck a culvert, the California Highway Patrol reported.

Oliver's wife, Shiela, was taken to the Desert Hospital and is reported in serious condition by hospital aides. Mrs. Oliver is suffering from possible fractures, internal injuries, and a broken heel.

Brig. G.P. Hardy-Roberts, secretary superintendent of the Middlesex Hospital where the warrior was brought, said "The doctors are examining Sir Winston now and it is almost sure there will have to be an operation."

Lady Churchill was on hand to meet her husband at the airport and clasp his hand as medics gingerly moved his stretcher from a Royal Air Force jet plane into a service ambulance.

She followed the ambulance in a limousine behind four motorcycle police outriders to the hospital in the heart of London and a cheering welcome by a crowd of his admirers—the people of England.

Then with Sir Winston safely in his room and surrounded by surgeons and bone specialists, she waited. Hospital officials rushed to give her a room in an adjoining wing.

"Lady Churchill is very tired," a spokesman said. "She is lying down, having a sleep."

Churchill, flat on his back with the broken left thigh encased in a plaster cast, gamely raised his fingers in his "V" for victory salute to well-wishers at the airport.

He mustered strength again to wave his arms aloft to crowds who massed in the streets outside to watch him enter the downtown London hospital.

The doctors took over. Doctors at the Princess Grace Clinic in Monte Carlo Clinic where the statesman was treated Thursday called the bone resetting manipulation they did there an "operation."

Churchill broke the thigh bone of his leg Thursday in a fall in his hotel bedroom in Monte Carlo but appeared today to be on the way to another of the amazing recoveries that have marked a long history of illnesses and injuries.

His color was back to its ruddy pinkness. He was intensely curious about all that was being done for him and had a smile and a wave or reporters when he left Princess Grace Hospital in an ambulance at Monte Carlo.

And he sent a telegram to the thanks for his message of good House of Commons expressing wishes Thursday.

Church School Climax Sunday

Jackie Will Woo Mexicans Like Parisians in Paris

MEXICO CITY (UPI) — Jacqueline Kennedy had Mexico City in the palm of her hand today even before she arrived. Socially, it seemed certain she would overshadow her husband as she did on their visit to Paris.

Even leftists protesting against the visit of President Kennedy took pains to stress they had nothing against the First Lady.

"Gringos no, Jackie si" said one sign in the city.

Radio stations and nightclub orchestras blared the strains of two new songs, "Lovely Jacqueline," a Mexican folk-type song, and "Jacqueline," described as a "slow rock 'n' roll inspired by an Italian tune."

A third song about the visiting Jackie was being recorded and more were sure to come.

Word spread well in advance among fashion-conscious Mexican women that Mrs. Kennedy's Oleg Cassini wardrobe would dazzle them.

The American First Lady chose vivid hues as the Mexicans like them — yellow, flamingo pink, greens, blues and whites.

Cons Atop Water Tank Fight Hot Temperature

PITTSBURGH (UPI)—Ten defiant convicts holding out atop a water tower in Western Correctional Institution in protest against what they called "inhuman" treatment of inmates face the toughest test of their four-day rebellion today.

With a hot, sunny day and temperatures in the 90s forecast, prison officials predicted the rebels would give up and come down from the catwalk of the water tower 80 feet above the prison yard.

So far, three of the original 13 have cracked under the strain of thirst and hunger. One came down Thursday and two the previous day.

William Zieffe, 21, gave up against the mounting odds in mid-afternoon Thursday and climbed down a ladder into the waiting arms of guards. Zieffe, serving 9 months to 2 years for armed robbery, would have served his minimum term on July 30.

He was rushed to the prison hospital where authorities said he was suffering from dehydration. The two who gave up Wednesday, James J. Fletcher, 25, and Alfred Nardi Jr., left the hospital Thursday. They were sent to the prison's disciplinary section, which was the cause of the protest demonstration.

Although the section is known to the inmates as "the hole," it is far from that. He said prisoners confined there receive regular meals but lose their privileges such as movies and television.

Robert Payne, 29, was being transferred from the hospital back to the disciplinary cellblock Monday when he broke away from his guards and made for the tower.

Modeling, Charm School Monday

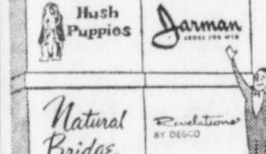

Barbara Foster will be in charge of a six-week course in the modeling and charm school presented by the Palm Springs recreation department at the pavilion on the polo grounds.

The course will begin Monday, July 2, from 8 to 9 p.m.

The courses will be for girls from 13 to 18 years of age, all phases of modeling and charm will be taught in the six week course.

Metropolitan Opera star basso Jerome Hines is made up for his title role of the mad czar in the opera "Boris Godunov."

All the male members of the Hines family are railroad buffs. Elaborate playroom train layout was built by the opera star.

A Villain in the House

WHEN Metropolitan Opera basso Jerome Hines is not busy singing he can usually be found working on the railroad with his three young sons in the playroom of their South Orange, N.J., home. The six-foot-six Hines, who can assume the role of a villain with the briefest of notice, is just plain "Pop" and always the hero with his three children, David, 8; Andrew, 6, and John, 5. The 40-year-old singer and his attractive, black-haired wife, Lucia, an opera singer herself, have the same problems with their live-wire youngsters as most parents. It might be a baseball through a neighbor's window, or the family pet kinkajou on the loose once again with "Pop" in hot pursuit.

During the Met's season, Mr. Hines averages two performances a week, and additional long hours in rehearsal. A composer as well as a singer, Hines has written a religious opera that has been performed during the holiday season. In September, the basso profundo will go on tour in Italy, South America, and then Russia, where he will appear before Soviet audiences in the title role of "Boris Godunov."

The singer admits that his son Andrew is his best press agent. "When he goes to school," Mr. Hines said, "he tells everyone I sang for the President. Then he asks them where their fathers sing."

Everyone sings for his supper in the Hines household. Accompanying dad vocally are the singer's wife, Lucia, and their three sons.

Andrew, David and John help to ground basso Hines as their father runs through his morning calisthenics.

Hines is caught off guard by the family's kinkajou, who doesn't sing.

June Wedding Bells Are Ringing

IN AN ANCIENT CEREMONY that is ever new and exciting, the young James Delano Davises cut their wedding cake. The pretty bride is the former Miss Laura Jean Pratt, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Urban J. Pratt of Cathedral City.

Stephanie Ince Is Bride Of Dwight L. Johnson Jr.

A journey to the Antarctic will interrupt the honeymoon of the young Mr. and Mrs. Dwight Lyman Johnson Jr., (Stephanie Ince), whose marriage at The Little Church of the Desert in 29 Palms was an event of interest here and in Coronado.

Following the summer spent in their Palo Alto apartment, the benedict will leave for McMurdo Sound and 14 months as a laboratory assistant with the National Science Foundation. In his absence, the new Mrs. Johnson will continue her studies at Stanford University.

Candlelit Rites

Their wedding took place in candlelight, with the Rev. Leland Kunz solemnizing the 8 o'clock rites. The bride, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. William T. Ince of 29 Palms, was given in marriage by her father. As she repeated her vows, she was wearing a street-length gown of off-white silk organza over taffeta, with a shoulder-length veil flaring from a tiny crown. For her flowers, she carried a cascade of white carnations and stephanotis, centered with orchids.

Her sole attendant was her sister, Miss Susan Ince, who performed maid of honor duties in a sheath of aqua silk, detailed with an overskirt of silk organza, and matched by her accessories. Her flowers were pink carnations.

Best man was the benedict's brother, Stephen Johnson. Serving as ushers were the bride's brother, Bill Ince, assisted by John Morton and Bob Laird.

A reception followed the ceremony, and then the just-weds left for Santa Barbara and the beginning of their honeymoon.

The new Mrs. Johnson entered Stanford after her graduation from Bishop's School in La Jolla, and she spent one quarter at the university's campus in Stuttgart, Germany. Her husband, who is the son of Rear Admiral and Mrs. Dwight L. Johnson of Coronado, has been attending the Palo Alto university on a National Merit Scholarship. When he returns from the Antarctic, the young pair will finish their senior year together at Stanford.

WHITE SILK ORGANZA was fashioned into the gown which Miss Stephanie Ince chose for her wedding to Dwight Lyman Johnson Jr. This summer, the duo will live in Palo Alto.

AMONG THE JUNE BRIDES is Mrs. Howard Alexander Mitchell, the former Miss Myrna Lee Hill, who gave her vows in recent Long Beach nuptials. (John Upton Photo)

Howard Alexander Mitchell Claims Miss Hill as Bride

Howard Alexander Mitchell, son of the A. Russell Mitchells of Palm Springs, claimed Miss Myrna Lee Hill as his bride at a recent early evening ceremony in the Los Altos Methodist Church of Long Beach.

A reception at the church followed the wedding, and afterward, guests gathered in the Long Beach home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Krans Hill, for champagne. Then the just-weds flew to Catalina for their honeymoon, returning to live in Long Beach at 4604 E. 15th St.

Soft yellow and white themed the nuptials as the pair exchanged vows before the Rev. Donald R. Locker. The bride's gown, which she designed and made, was fashioned of gleaming white peau de soie, detailed at the square neckline with a wide collar. A pearl-studded panel of Chantilly lace trimmed the front of the gown, and back interest was added to the skirt by back fullness sweeping into a chapel train.

Her waist-length veil was edged in lace, floating from a tiny cluster of flowers; her bouquet was a spray of white orchids and stephanotis.

Three attendants were in sheaths of yellow satin covered with matching Chantilly lace, and they added bow hats with full veils in the same pastel tone. For their flowers, the trio carried old-fashioned bouquets of white carnations and yellow rosebuds.

The matron of honor role was taken by Mrs. Thomas Thompson; the secondary maids were Miss Lynda Cecil and Miss Joy Brechner.

Best man duties were performed by Norman Michelson; the ushering contingent included Alan Hardy and Ed Rybeck.

A graduate of Polytechnic High School in Long Beach, the bride continued her studies at Long Beach State College, majoring in business and finance. She is a member of Sigma Kappa Sorority, and a past president of the Panhellenic Council.

The benedict, an alumnus of Palm Springs High, first went to Orange Coast College, and is now a senior at Long Beach State, studying industrial technology and electronics.

SUMMER PASTELS THEME NUPTIALS

Pratt-Davis Rites Read

Miss Laura Jean Pratt, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Urban J. Pratt of Cathedral City, gave her marriage vows to James Delano Davises at a June wedding held in St. Louis Catholic Church.

The Rev. Joseph Leissler officiated at the 10 o'clock nuptial mass, which was followed by a reception in the social hall of the Cathedral City church.

Three attendants in the soft pastels of summer preceded the bride to the flower-laden altar where the double-ring rites were read. Miss Karen Anderson of Lake Arrowhead served as maid of honor in a ballerina-length frock of pale yellow silk organza and lace, which she matched with a briefly veiled bandeau.

Miss Frith Trothed to Kris Nelson

Of interest here and in Long Beach is the news that Miss Dorothy Jean Frith will be married to Kris F. Nelson in September. The betrothal of the young pair has just been announced by the bride-elect's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas D. Firth of 41 Francis Drive in Palm Springs. Details of the wedding will be planned later in the summer.

Miss Frith was graduated from Mar Vista High School in San Diego. Her fiancé, who is the son of Mr. and Mrs. H. Chris Nelson of Long Beach, is an alumnus of the University of Nebraska, where he was Delta Tau Delta. He later served in the United States Air Force.

The affianced couple both work in the new Tahquitz-McCallum-Farrell Branch of the Bank of America.

Wearing identical frocks, but in gently contrasting colors, were the two bridesmaids — Miss Judi Gillette of Cathedral City, who chose blue, and Mrs. Richard Le Duc of Palm Springs, who was in pink. The trio all held showers of carnations to match their ensembles.

As the bride followed her attendants down the aisle on the arm of her father, she was wearing a white gown of lace over satin, the molded bodice designed with short sleeves and a pearl-dotted, scalloped neckline, and the fully gathered skirt detailed in back with a chapel train.

Her veil was waist-length, captured by a pointed crown of seed pearls and crystals; her flowers were a cascade of white carnations.

The benedict, who is the son of Mrs. Rita Davis of Elsinore, asked his brother, Harry Davis, to stand with him as best man. Seating the guests was the bride's brother, Leslie Pratt of Palm Desert, assisted by Gary Boswell of Rancho Mirage.

Turnips Have Insecticide

NEW YORK (UPI) — A potent new insecticide has been discovered in turnips, Dr. E. P. Lightenstein and associates at the University of Wisconsin report in "The Journal of Agricultural and Food Chemistry."

The compound has been found to be as active as several insecticides already in use. The researchers said the new insecticide must be comparatively non-toxic to humans since man has been eating turnips for centuries without showing any ill-effects.

At the wedding reception, Jill Good carried the guest book.

Following a brief honeymoon to an undisclosed destination, the just-weds are now making their home in Palm Springs at 37-112 Palo Verde.

The new Mrs. Davis received her education at St. Theresa's and Palm Springs High School. Her husband was graduated from San Pasquel High in Escondido.

New Theme Chosen by Club Group

"Extra Dimensions in Learning" will be the term theme of Mrs. Pauline Wade of Las Vegas, Nev., recently installed as chairman of Council No. 8, Southwest Region, International Toastmistress Clubs Inc.

The installation ceremonies, held at Harold's Broiler in Fontana, were conducted by Mrs. Pauline Myer, new supervisor of the Southwest Region. Seated with Mrs. Wade were Mrs. Ruth Kessel of Pomona, first vice chairman; Mrs. Hazel Robb of Arlington, second vice chairman; Mrs. Ethel Meares of Arrowhead, recording secretary; and Mrs. Lois Clapp of Norton, treasurer.

Program-Planning

A workshop on program planning was led by Mrs. Gladys Ingerson, and a report on the recent three-day regional conference in San Francisco was given by Mrs. Della Ball, who revealed that there are now 196 clubs in the Southwest Region.

Council No. 8 has accepted the invitation of the Habladoras Toastmistress Club to hold its fall conference in November at the Antelope Valley Country Club of Palmdale.

The next meeting of the council will be a planning session, scheduled for Aug. 11 at Harold's Broiler, Fontana.

This easy-to-do, luscious, semi-sweet chocolate sauce is an ideal topping for serving hot or cold over ice cream or puddings. Melt a 6-ounce package of semi-sweet chocolate morsels together with 2-3 cup evaporated milk in top of double boiler or over low flame, stirring constantly until blended smooth. Makes 1 cup sauce.

CHIC CAREER GIRL

Ann Blyth Plays N.Y. Newspaper Correspondent in New TV Series

By VERNON SCOTT

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Ann Blyth will strike a blow for femininity next television season by starring in a weekly series playing a chic career girl.

The beautiful movie-video actress is the first to agree that glamour and brains rarely mix on living room screens.

"Television actresses are limited to family situation comedies or western heroines," she said, "and both become clichés."

Ann was telling only part of the story. Television has seen female stars fail time and again for lack of worthwhile scripts. Jane Wyman, Loretta Young, June Allyson, Barbara Stanwyck and other dramatic actresses have come and gone.

Comediennes have enjoyed more success, but they too have given way to stars of the opposite sex. Ask Eve Arden, Lucille Ball, Ann Southern and Gale Storm.

The few survivors, Donna Reed for example, stick with the tried and true domestic situation shows.

"I think they use the wrong approach," said the pert Miss Blyth. "It's not good for children to watch shows in which mother is always the brain of the family while father is an imbecile."

Ann's new show presents the fairer sex in a fairer light. She will star in "The Saints and Sinners," playing a New York newspaper correspondent covering the Washington D. C. beat. Her lines will be as smart and chic as her wardrobe.

Married To Doctor (to Dr. James McNulty) and the mother of four youngsters, Ann has agreed to star in a minimum of six segments for "The Saints and Sinners," possibly more. But the number of her appearances is up to Ann, which is why she agreed to star in the show in the first place.

"I waited a long time before accepting a series," she said over a morning cup of coffee. "I wanted it to be just right."

"I came close to accepting other series in the past but they would have required my appearance every week. I didn't want to take that much time away from Jim and the children."

"And there were professional considerations too. I believe it is impossible for a weekly show to sustain good stories week after week."

Ann Explains Confidence With feminine batting averages so low why is Ann confident her new show will be successful? "If I knew why we actresses were at such low ebb in movies as well as television maybe I could start a revival," she laughed. "This show is an adventure drama and that may be the answer."

"There is no reason why women on TV should be stuck in a modern kitchen or out on the prairie in a western."

Ann said her husband was happy with her increased television activity and hopeful it will leave her enough free time to continue with her singing lessons and oil painting.

"We will see how it works out," Ann concluded. "At the moment I am content and confident that we have a good show going for us."

"Birdie Cast" HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Janet Leigh, Dick Van Dyke, Ann-Margret, Bobby Rydell and Jesse Pearson head the cast of "Bye Bye Birdie." The opening sequence is a dance number by Janet Leigh which took 5 days to film and will take up nine minutes on the screen.

Unique Sound System Fits Needs of Theater

By PRESTON MCGRAW
United Press International

When Burl Ives was playing the lead recently in a play called "Joshua Beene and God" in Dallas Theater Center, two scenes called for him to hold a conversation with God.

Each scene was about 15 minutes long. To achieve added depth of character, Ives recorded God's voice on tape in a lower tone than he normally uses. He kept up his end of the conversation live from the stage.

The conversation had to be casual and free-wheeling. Combination taped and live conversations for the stage are commonly carried on by leaving timed blanks in the tape for the live part of the talk.

But Paul Baker, director of Dallas Theater Center, felt this put the actor in the position of being dictated to by the tape. He wanted a timing that was equal to what can be gotten out of live, experienced actors.

Unique Solution

Gene Diskey, the 28-year-old technical director and production manager of Dallas Theater Center, and Allan E. Boyle of Texas Instruments, pooled their knowledge and came up with a solution unique in the theater.

It was so exceptional that Ives paid more than $3,000 for the sound system that Diskey and Boyle evolved and donated it to the Center.

As Diskey, a graduate of Yale University's school of dramatics, explains it, he and Boyle put the system together in two weeks out of a Collins broadcasting console and an Ampex professional tape recording unit.

The components had to be modified to fit the needs of the Center and the play. Ives recorded the voice of God on the top track of a two-track tape. The bottom track was a cue track. The tape was put in a cartridge.

On the bottom track where Diskey wanted the voice of God to stop, so Ives could talk, he imposed a 10 kilocycle tone by pushing a button on the console. The audience did not hear the note but it stopped the voice channel in a split second.

Operator Pushes Button When Ives finished his line, the operator of the console pushed a button. Within two-tenths of a second, God's next line was starting on speakers in the theater.

Diskey said it freed Ives completely from having to worry about the mechanics of the thing. He could concentrate completely on characterization.

One recorded line was so successful that the applause of the audience drowned the next line, which was essential to progression of the plot.

Diskey fixed that quickly. He put in a stop signal at the end of the line where the applause started. Then the operator of the sound system pushed the start button when the applause started to die down and the essential line came through loud and clear.

The sound equipment is operated from a sound-proof studio that over-looks the stage of the 450-seat theater.

Diskey always has an actor — never a technician — operate the sound equipment because he feels that an actor has a sense of timing that a technician does not.

The operator keeps up with the lines that are spoken on the stage through a loudspeaker in the studio and a microphone on the stage.

NEW YORK (UPI)—There will be no more "Bachelor Father" or any other television series for John Forsythe for a while. The star said he was just going to sit back and contemplate things for about six months after five solid years of "Bachelor Father," of which he is co-owner. "I want to do a movie or a stage play, but only if I think the script is just right for me," he said. "I wouldn't rule out another video series some time in the future."

Richard Rust, a rising young actor who was seen to good advantage recently in the film, "Walk on the Wild Side," has been signed as regular on the new one-hour NBC-TV series, "Sam Benedict," due in the fall. Rust will play an assistant to Edmund O'Brien who has the title role as a flamboyant lawyer. Claude Rains will be the guest star in the first "Sam Benedict" episode.

Producer-directors Franklin Schaffner and Fielder Cook, video standouts for years, have formed The Directors Company to handle their television assignments. The first output will be seven one-hour original video plays which will make up part of the schedule for "Du Pont Show of the Week" on NBC next season.

Increase Reported at Palm City

Community Population Now Is 800

Population reached 800 this week at Palm City, the self-contained active retirement community being built near Palm Springs by Los Angeles developer Nels G. Severin.

Severin, a past president of the National Association of Home Builders, said home occupancy in the $30 million desert community is now double what it was the first of the year.

Homes have been completed in the first unit, which opened 16 months ago, and the first retirement dwellings are being completed in the second unit where sales are continuing through the summer, Severin said.

Residents daily enjoy "active" retirement or semi-retirement through use of the championship golf course, shuffleboard courts, swimming pools, therapeutic pool, picnic area, game and card rooms and assembly hall where meetings, plays, dances and banquets are held.

"No one is pressured to partake of any of these activities or to join any group," Severin said. "but a tempting array of social and recreational facilities are provided and most of our residents take advantage of them, picking those they find most interesting."

He noted that 150 residents last week enjoyed a Hawaiian Luau, given by Dr. Lincoln Cromwell in nearby Cathedral City. Dr. Cromwell heads the Suntown Medical Group, geriatrics specialists who are staffing the modern new medical center at Palm City.

Also provided for the senior citizens is a complete neighborhood shopping center, a United Church, and an arts and crafts building.

Palm City, which will comprise 1,800 homes and "own-your-own" apartments by the end of next year, has won 11 national and state awards, making it the most honored retirement project in the nation.

Only qualifications for residency are that one member of each family be at least 50 years of age. Widows and widowers are welcome.

Full improvements are in at the 560-acre retirement city, and an unlimited water supply is available from three artesian wells.

A total of seven model homes, plus model apartments, may be visited daily.

Homes range in size up to three bedrooms, two bathrooms and "leisure room." Price includes minimum lot sizes of 6,000 sq. ft., refrigerated air conditioning, electric range and oven, garbage disposal and one-piece molded fiberglass tub and shower enclosures. The homes are fully carpeted and walls and ceilings are insulated. Residents have free access to recreation facilities.

Located only a mile from famous Bermuda Dunes, where many entertainment celebrities have homes, Palm City is only 2 hours from Los Angeles and San Diego and 20 minutes from Palm Springs off Highway 111. Travel to Washington Street and follow directional signs.

The longest regularly formed English words are anti-interdenominationalistically, 32 letters, and antidestablishmentarianism, 28 letters.

'THEY WENT THAT-A-WAY' seems to be the message Mrs. Shirley De Pauk is giving her husband, Edward, in front of their Racquet Club Road Estates home. De Pauk is the new operations officer for Santa Fe Federal Savings and Loan Association. Their daughter, Lorayne, is 2½ years old and another blessed event is expected any minute in the De Pauk family.

DESERT GARDENING

Plants Now Require Extra Care

Feeding your roses should not be a haphazard chore, neither should watering or fertilizing of any plants, trees and shrubs. As a guide, a sheet of note-paper behind the storeroom door would come in handy. Jot down the date on which fertilizing and watering has been taken care of and the length between each. In the blooming period feeding of roses should be about six weeks apart. When the plants are dormant irrigation is sufficient feeding.

Mulching the soil often becomes necessary in tree or shrub beds. This can be done with a shovel or hoe, but mulching of rosebeds is unnecessary and might prove harmful. It disturbs good, tender roots that appear so often just below the soil surface, roots that help in carrying needed nutrition to the plant.

Watch For Suckers
If you conclude that the soil needs mulching use a light, hand trowel and use it sparingly. When your rose bushes are mature watch for suckers that generally appear at the base of the bud union. Unless closely scrutinized they appear to be healthy stems and soon grow to the height of your highest stem. Cut them free of the bud union, they only rob the plant of needed nutrition.

In buying rose bushes the amateur gardener should stick to the well known species that have proven best for desert growth. Following is a rough list from which to choose:

Reds — Damon Runyon, Chrysler Imperial, San Fernando, Charlotte Armstrong.

Pinks — Autumn, Tally Ho, First Love, Yours Truly, Daisy Bess, the latter five petalled.

Whites — Kaiserin August Victoria, White Night, Rex Alexandra.

Yellow — Eclipse, Sun Valley, Sutter's Gold, Peace, E. P. Thon.

Apricot and Orange — Helen Traubel, Mojave.

Garden Centrepiece
As a centerpiece in your rose garden a floribunda like Jiminy Cricket that blooms all summer and has the colors of Mojave and Helen Traubel. The grandiflora called Montezuma is of the same colors. There are also several climbers from which to choose, the tiny Cecil Brunner, white with a trace of pink; Countess Vandal, with the colors of Jiminy Cricket; the yellow Lowell Thomas and the red Heart's Desire.

You would have little difficulty in buying these or their equivalents with the barefoot roses that come on the market at the beginning of January.

Aphid A Problem
To the rose grower aphid are probably the worst pest. They cling to the part of the stem nearest to the budding flower. They congregate on new leaves that curl up by the aphid energy in sucking the sap that is the rose's lifeblood. It is said that ants plant the aphids and eventually feed themselves on milk from the aphid.

If these pests are not carefully controlled the majority of your garden plants will be attacked. They are especially fond of new oleander growth. They can be washed off oleanders with a powerful spray of water and die when separated from their prospective victim.

Service Line Boosted By Local Utility Firm

Purchase of a fleet of 15 new line trucks, equipped with numerous high-speed hydraulic powered accessories, valued at more than $400,000 was announced today by California Electric Power Co.

Two of them have been assigned to the Palm Springs District where they will be used to speed up construction of new lines and will assist line crews in restoring service faster in times of emergencies, F. F. Crocker, Calectric's Palm Springs District manager, said.

The trucks are being assigned to three and four-man crews in this and nine other of Calectric's districts to increase efficiency and productivity in line construction work. Use of the trucks also will provide better service to Calectric customers, he added.

Individually, the fleet which includes two, four and six-wheel drive models, range in price from $25,000 to $32,000 each. They will replace trucks with mechanically operated equipment which were originally purchased for about $12,000 each, according to C. L. Gallup, superintendent of Calectric's transportation department. However, the increased efficiency, faster service and greater safety has proven in tests to justify the increased investment, he said.

The trucks, with their hydraulic equipment, are capable of drilling holes for power poles, setting the poles, removing them and holding them in place almost automatically. An operator, seated on a turret mounted on top of the truck, has a full, unobstructed view of the work which is being done. By manipulating levers on the turret, he can control the hydraulic boom, digger, winch, pole puller and grabber, outriggers which stabilize the truck and other equipment. The bodies are designed to carry

Post Office Won't Seem the Same

The story of the great growth of Palm Springs is written into the career of a public servant who terminates almost 35 years with the local post office tomorrow.

S. Merritt Williams, postmaster here since 1954, is scheduled to step out of office June 30.

When he joined the post office staff early in 1928, there were only two on the staff and the office was a small part of a general store owned by Carl G. Lykken. Mr. Lykken, the postmaster, was the other man on the force and he divided his time between taking care of the mail and keeping store. Receipts from stamp sales and other postal services didn't even approach $5,000 annually.

In those days the term, Village, meant what it said. It wasn't a nostalgic term used affectionately by old-timers as now. The "season" ended on the Monday after Easter and when Easter came early, there was much moaning among those with goods or services to sell. From Easter until mid-November, store windows were covered with drab brown paper and everybody took off until the fall.

In the height of the season there were possibly 5,000 people here. In the bottom of summer, if all of the people here congregated at the corner of Palm Canyon Drive and Andreas Road, there wouldn't even have been a crowd.

Today as Postmaster Williams prepares to wind up 35 years of service to the public, the postal receipts are reaching toward an annual top of half of a million, the winter visitors to the Desert Empire are counted in the multiple thousands, and the slowest day in summer finds more people here than the peak day of the "season" 35 years ago.

Williams has seen three postmasters come and go while on the job behind that famed postmark, "Palm Springs." There have been five United States presidents, seven Palm Springs mayors (that since incorporation in 1927), four post office buildings.

In the past few years he has seen days when there was more mail handled in 24 hours than during the entire year when he first went to work in the post office.

There has been much criticism on the national level of the post office department. But that doesn't effect Williams.

He didn't make the rules, you know, he just carried them out. And by a majority, the people of Palm Springs are with him.

So, after a third of a century, he's had it. He's cleaning out his desk and the poor fish in the streams and lakes had better look out. Also the poor fish who take him on the golf course.

The post office isn't going to seem the same after all of these years.

The Ugly Indonesian

The overriding argument in support of America's continuing foreign aid program is that it is designed to stop the spread of Communism. One of the chief recipients of foreign aid has been, and is, President Sukarno of Indonesia.

Recently, Mr. Sukarno appeared before a congress of the Communist Party of Indonesia. He said:

"I am very happy to have removed the Communist-phobia from the minds of our people. The Communists have become strong because of their opposition to imperialism. You may say that I give room to the Communists and that I encourage them."

Later in his speech, Mr. Sukarno pleaded: "Let's go ahead together to complete the revolution." A laudable aim, no doubt, for a Communist, but does it have to be accomplished with American tax funds?

Freeman, S.D., Couriers "The right to life comes from God and to live it one does not have to deprive others. The right of liberty comes from God and one may enjoy it without taking it from others. The right to pursue happiness or enjoy what we have created also comes from God and does not involve taking anything from others. . . . We in America are discovering ourselves in the position of having gone far beyond the basic three rights named above. We hear of other added 'rights'-which sound good at first, but which have already led us a long way down the path of socialism . . ."

East Prairie Mo., Eagle: "The profit picture in this country is serious. In relation to sales, profits of manufacturers after taxes last year amounted to only 4.2 cents of each dollar of sales and have fallen steadily. In 1950 it was 7.1 cents on each sales dollar. Profit is the life blood of American industry yet each year it grows smaller and smaller."

HOLMES ALEXANDER:

So---What's in It for Us?

WASHINGTON — Federal scientists rather expect that Khrushchev will accept the helping hand offered by President Kennedy for cooperation in Space — but Congress will want to know what's in it for us.

Earlier this month the US-USSR representatives at Geneva, Dr. Hugh Dryden and Academician Blagovestov, reported that they were discussing in some detail the possibility of cooperation in meteorology, a world magnetic survey and satellite telecommunications. The general idea seems to be that the USA and USSR will launch alternate satellites, and that these will be traced by ground stations of both countries and their allies.

It sounds fine, but both the House and Senate have committees which are luckily apt to be skeptical of the Russians bearing gifts. The Senate Space committee heard the other day from James Webb, Administrator of NASA, that our country gave more than it got in recent exchanges on orbital flight. Astronauts Glenn and Titov both made speeches at the recent international Committee on Space Research (COSPAR), the first speech being a good scientific presentation, the second a wad of propaganda.

Fear Reciprocation
Last November we hosted an international weather seminar to which a hundred countries were invited and over thirty sent representations. Some of the Soviet bloc accepted, but didn't show. The explanation among NASA scientists is that the Russians didn't want to put themselves in the position of having to reciprocate. Maybe they have little to show—or much to conceal from the West. But if the word "cooperation" is in the Russian dictionary, it must have a different meaning than it does to us. The Russians don't give anything away.

Going deeper into the subject of Space exploration, I find the Soviets to have such a typically Communist motivation that it would be folly for us to help them, and just about politically impossible for them to help us.

Cradle of Reason
Writing 50 years ago, the Russian scientist Tsiolkovsky said, "Our planet is the cradle of reason, but one cannot live forever in the cradle." This man, billed by the Russians as "the father of astronautics," wrote a good deal about the means and the value of Space travel, but it remained for his Communist successors to give his Collected Works (1954) the party line. Two Russian writers, Varvarov and Fadeyev, have a 1961 commentary on the older writer's works, as follows:

"From a Marxist point of view it becomes clear that humanity will enter the cosmos not as a sum total of biological individuals but as social beings, as a collective, and more precisely as an industrial collective. It would be absurd to assume that astronauts who have made their appearance in interplanetary space and on celestial bodies will be able to remain for any length of time separate from labor, production and technological processes. The spread of the human race through cosmic space will necessarily and inevitably be the spread of human industry."

The Marxist purpose in Space, then, is to establish Marx an industry there. But is that also the American purpose? At NASA's Office of International Programs, which runs Space projects in which about 50 nations now share, I am told that the requirements for participation are: scientific validity, pay - as - you - enter, and peaceful intentions.

Communist Contast
Under these rules we lately launched the British experimental satellite Aerial and later will launch a Canadian sounding device. Other countries are in line for this hoisting service. In return, they have set up tracking stations at home at their own expense, and are doing some research and a little development. The American purpose is to spread scientific knowledge, to share its benefits and press forward everywhere because we believe in science-for-science's-sake.

But what a contrast! Here and elsewhere, the Communist policy is specific and self-seeking, while ours is generalized and generous. Theirs is to spread their Marxist society, even unto the moon; ours is to allow every society, not excluding hostile ones, to survive and prosper.

It is hardly necessary to argue, I hope, that we are Better Guys than they are. But it's hard to see why we should help them, in Space or anywhere else, to advance their Marxist society, our sworn enemy and the scourge of mankind.

THIS SIDE Of The Sun

R. F. "Phat" GRAETTINGER

Call it the end of an era. The postmaster's going to flit. Thirty four years of sorting mail. Makes him think it's time to quit.

Tomorrow S. Merritt Williams, who has been carrying on for Uncle Sam in the Palm Springs post office since 1928, will call it a day. For the past eight years he has been head man there.

HE'S GOING to go fishing and play golf. Chances are that before the end of summer the fish he catches are going to be bigger and his golf scores smaller. According to him.

A lot of Palm Springs history has gone into the books since he joined the post office staff about 35 years ago. The post office was in the Carl G. Lykken store and it was a big occasion when the postal receipts for the year hit $5,000.

Right now, receipts are nearing the half million mark each year and there's a branch P.O. bigger than that one was.

HE SERVED UNDER three postmasters before he himself took over and in four locations. The first office was in Lykken's store so, naturally, Carl G. was the postmaster. But the mail business boomed and more room was needed. And handling it became a full-time job.

So the P.O. moved next door to share a building with the Bank of America along about where the arcade entrance to The Plaza now is. Clarence Templeton became postmaster.

BOTH THE BANK and the post office continued to grow fast and something had to give. The P.O. did. R. M. Pop Gorham was now at the helm and he and Williams and the staff moved to the northwest corner of The Plaza and Indian Avenue.

When Pop reached the age of retirement in 1953, Williams became acting postmaster and took over for real in 1954.

Then they moved to their present modern building at 849 North Palm Canyon and tomorrow Williams cleans out his desk and starts to practice casting and putting.

WILLIAMS recalls the protests when free mail delivery was proposed here. People were in the habit of going to the post office for their mail. There they'd meet their friends and discuss the events of the day. It was a sort of social event and they were afraid that with mail delivery, they'd lose touch.

They're still protesting. But now because there's only one delivery a day.

IT WASN'T ALL stamping mail and studying post office rules for Williams. The Desert Sun in a June 1932 issue, reported that "Merritt Williams of the post office staff, and Kenneth Broit have returned after an exciting trip to Ensenada, Mexico."

When he started at the P.O. in 1928 there were about 5,000 people, visitors and Villagers, here at the peak of the season. In summer, outside of the Indians, about 30. The town folded up between Easter and mid-November. Look at it now!

ABIGAIL VAN BUREN:

Dear Abby . . .

DEAR ABBY: My husband is retired. At first there was a lot to do, but after a couple of years boredom set in. Then he took up art. Painting by numbers. At first I was relieved because he was no longer underfoot, nagging me. Now his painting has gotten out of hand. He has cluttered up my whole home with his terrible art. He has even taken carefully selected paintings out of their frames and put "his" number paintings in! I love nature and scenery, but he likes buildings, monuments and bridges. Our friends encourage him, yet none of them will put his junk in "their" homes. Tell me what to do. —IN DESPAIR

DEAR IN DESPAIR: Believe me, there are worse hobbies. Let him cover the walls with his number paintings. It's only a matter of time before all our numbers come up.

DEAR ABBY: There is a real doll in our town who just came home from college. He bought himself a second-hand "hearse" and is driving it all over town. He attracts a lot of attention with his funeral wagon and everyone thinks it's a real cool idea. My father thinks I'm stupid to go out with him when he drives this car, but I don't see anything wrong with it. I'd like your advice, Abby. —PRISY

DEAR PRISY: Your college friend must think the girls are dying to ride with him. Wheels are wheels and as long as the driver is sane and sober, what's the harm?

DEAR ABBY: If a woman ever writes in and asks if she should remarry a man she once divorced, please tell her "not to!" Once a man has treated a woman like a dog, he'll never treat her like a human being again. I know. I took my husband back after we had been legally divorced because my minister, his family, my family and all our friends told me it would be better for the children. Believe me, they don't have to live with him. —I CRIED A RIVER

DEAR ABBY: Our daughter-in-law is living with us while our son is overseas. She has been running around with every Tom, Dick and Harry. We have tried everything to get her to act like a respectable married woman, but we can't reach her. Her own parents live in another state and know nothing of this. Our son will be home in three months. Do you think we ought to write and tell him she has been running around? He'll find out when he gets home and we might as well prepare him for the shock—BROKENHEARTED PARENTS

DEAR PARENTS: Don't write your son news of this kind when he is thousands of miles away and can do nothing about it but worry. There is no "preparation" possible for a shock like this. It will keep.

DEAR ABBY: I have a skin ailment. Unfortunately it is on my face and neck where everyone sees it. Sometimes it is very conspicuous and other times it is not. My problem is that every time I run into friends they say, "You must try my doctor!" I am satisfied with my own doctor and don't want to try anyone else's. I take the names of their doctors just to be polite, but have no intentions of seeing them. Many of my friends have phoned to ask me if I've gone to their doctors yet. Some have had the nerve to make an appointment for me! How can I shut them up? —CONFUSED

DEAR CONFUSED: Why appear interested in "trying" another doctor when you are satisfied with your own? If you feel that progress is being made in curing or controlling your rash, say so. Otherwise, perhaps it "is" time for a change.

DEAR ABBY: People who can't sleep in the same room with someone who snores must be nuts. I've been married to a snorer for 26 years and now it's gotten so that I can't fall asleep until he starts snoring. —CONDITIONED

'PEOPLE PRESSURE'

America's Playgrounds Heavily Overcrowded

EDITOR'S NOTE: On paper, the United States has plenty of recreational land. But the nation's parks are becoming as crowded as Times Square. In the following dispatch, the head of a new government agency designed to solve the problem says the trouble is that most of the land is where the people are not. He explains how his agency hopes to overcome this "people pressure" on the parks.

By LOUIS CASSELS
WASHINGTON (UPI) — America's outdoor playgrounds are desperately overcrowded this summer.

The situation will get progressively worse in the years ahead unless the nation moves swiftly to provide more parks, picnic grounds and swimming holes for a growing population with a growing amount of leisure time.

So says Dr. Edward C. Crafts, director of the U.S. government's new Bureau of Outdoor Recreation.

Crafts' bureau was established in the Interior Department for the express purpose of promoting more and better facilities for camping, hiking, fishing, swimming, boating, and other outdoor recreation, including pleasure driving along scenic highways.

Become More Avid
Crafts said in an interview that Americans, who now live mostly in cities, are becoming more avid every year in their pursuit of a patch of nature in which to picnic, swim, take a walk or just look at the scenery. During the 1950s, while the U.S. population grew 15 per cent, visits to national parks rose 86 per cent.

Increased mobility because of better cars and highways, and the additional leisure time provided by a shorter average work week, have contributed to the mounting demand for outdoor recreation facilities. The result, said Crafts, is that "some of our more popular parks now look like Times Square at the peak of the tourist season."

Moreover, projections of present trends show that the "people pressure" on recreation facilities is likely to triple by the end of this century.

In Wrong Places
On paper, it looks as though America should have abundant space for outdoor recreation. More than 250 million acres are publicly designated for that purpose, including 26 million acres of national parks, 6 million acres of state parks, and 18 million acres of national forests.

But, Crafts pointed out, "most of this land is where the people are not." Specifically, 72 per cent of the public recreational acreage is in western states, where 15 per cent of the population lives. The northeastern states, with 15 per cent of the people, have only 2 per cent of the park lands.

Providing more outdoor recreation opportunities within easy reach of major population centers in the East is a major goal of the new bureau.

It will not build or operate any facilities itself. Its main jobs are (1) to coordinate the activities of the 20 or more federal agencies which are already involved directly or incidentally in the management of lands which can be used for outdoor recreation; and (2) to stimulate greater efforts by state and local governments, and private enterprise, to meet the rising demand for open-air playgrounds.

Several pieces of legislation now pending in Congress are needed to further this program, Crafts said.

He expressed hope that Congress will complete action soon on a bill authorizing his bureau to distribute $50 million in matching grants to encourage states to develop plans for outdoor recreation programs. A few states, such as New York, Wisconsin, Pennsylvania, California, New Jersey, Massachusetts and Michigan, already are moving ahead in this area. But most are dragging their feet.

Crafts said private enterprise also can and should play a big part in providing outdoor recreation facilities. His bureau plans to stimulate such action by pointing out that such undertakings have proved highly profitable.

"There is a great opportunity here for some of the nation's rural depressed areas," he said. "Development of their natural scenic assets could give a tremendous economic boost to many areas — northern Minnesota and West Virginia, for example."

For New Lands
Another bill before Congress would set up a land acquisition fund to be financed by proceeds from admission fees at federal recreation areas, motorboat gasoline taxes and other charges. This money would be used to buy new lands for national parks and seashores.

Expenditures for new recreation facilities are not frivolous, Crafts said, but an overdue national investment in assuring all Americans "permanent access to their outdoor heritage."

Letters to The Editor

The Editor
Desert Sun
Sir:

I can't tell how grateful I am to you for spending so much time with me in your office the week before the election when I was making a hurried trip through Imperial Valley, Coachella Valley and Riverside and San Bernardino.

After the war, when I was State Controller, Betty and I used to spend a week in Palm Springs every winter. The only time, it seems, that I am able to get there these days is because of some political function or speaking date.

Anyway, I do want you to know of my thanks for the fact that the Desert Sun used several of the photographs which you had taken by Bob Nims when I was in your office. Sometime later on this year, I look forward to thanking you personally.

Again with my sincere thanks, I am very sincerely yours,

THOMAS H. KUCHEL

California also gather at this interesting Palm Desert hostelry.
One of the large groups Hilma will hostess is the Cotton Growers Association when they hold their annual meeting in July. The growers will come from Coachella Valley, Imperial Valley and cotton areas in Northern California.
Recently, the "Hi-Lows," a golfing group stayed here to make a study of the many courses in this area.

With the heavy influx of visitors to the area even in the so-called "hot season", Don Hetland, president of the Palm Desert Hotel Association, is busy with plans for still further attracting people.
Being completely sold on desert

Vicki Thompson has entertained
Nonnie Scully as her house guest for the past week.

Nonnie's parents have taken a

Who Pays Whom For What?

When you sell a piece of property through ANY Realtor, you pay him the established commission. When you sell through a "Multiple Listing" Member Realtor, you STILL pay ONLY ONE commission—even though you have 50 firms and a total of 150 sales people working actively for you. This commission is shared by YOUR "exclusive" Realtor and the one who actually makes the sale.

So—when you can get the services of 50 brokers for the price of one—isn't it just COMMON SENSE to take advantage of "Multiple Listing"?

'CASEY IN WONDERLAND'

Dodgers Clip N.Y. Mets, 5-4

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Courageous Ed Roebuck, who makes almost as many comebacks as Sugar Ray Robinson, put the Los Angeles Dodgers back on top of the National League early today—and may have earned himself a bonus.

The right-hand dodger relief ace pitched 5 1/3 innings of shut-out relief in a 4:09, 13-inning marathon in which Los Angeles bested the New York Mets, 5-4. A double by Frank Howard scored Jim Gilliam from second base with the winning run to end Roebuck's duel with Ken Makenzie—the losing pitcher also in relief.

Joe Moeller, 5-4, opposed Jay Hook, 5-8, in tonight's game between the top and low dogs in the National League pennant race. Hook played Thursday night seeing action as a runner as part of "Casey in Wonderland" substitution program that almost pulled the game out of the fire for New York.

One-Pitch Inning

In fact, when Roebuck arrived on the scene as the fourth Dodger pitcher in the eighth inning, the Mets had scored three runs and gone ahead, 4-3. Roebuck threw one pitch that inning to get Charlie Neal to ground out.

Stengel in that confused eighth sent Marv Throneberry to bat for pitcher Art Jackson, but replaced him quickly with Rod Kanehl when Walt Alston sent in left-hand Ron Perranoski to pitch to Throneberry. Kanehl delivered a two-run single.

But the Mets couldn't get to Roebuck—now 5-0 for the season—for any more runs and the 30-year-old right-hander struck out the side in the top of the 13th to set up Howard's winning belt to left-center.

May Be Starter

"If we do move out of rotation for another starter, it will be Roebuck," said the impressed Alston, who also gave praise to John Podres for the latter's seven inning stint in which he fanned 10 and built a 3-1 lead before tiring. "He's looking good, although probably not as sharp as the Podres of last year." John, who now has failed to finish 10 starts in a row, was 18-5 for 1961.

Twice in Roebuck's career he has been hit by injuries which appeared likely to end his career. There was doubt in late 1961 whether Roebuck ever would regain his stuff, but Ed went to Arizona to spend the winter managing the Dodger off-season entry in a schooling league for newcomers. Roebuck took his turn now and then and showed at the start of the season he was ready for another good year.

GOOD GUYS VS. BAD GUYS NEXT

Angels Clobber Bosox by Two Touchdowns, 19 to 7

NEW YORK (UPI)—Cleveland may be leading the American League, but the Los Angeles Angels are fully aware that the team they play tonight is the team to beat in the pennant race.

The team, of course, is the New York Yankees—complete with a chastened Roger Maris and limping Mickey Mantle. The M and M boys—remember them?—got back in business in the Yankees' 4-2 victory over the Twins Thursday to move into second place in the AL derby.

Maris slugged his 14th homer in the fourth inning and Mantle connected for his 10th in the same frame off loser Jack Kralick, but Elston Howard's double and an error by reliever Lee Stange gave the Yankees what proved to be the winning run in the seventh. Bill Stafford won his seventh with an assist from Marshall Bridges in the eighth.

The knowledge that Whitey Ford was the Yankee pitching choice tonight didn't offer any hints that another Angel landslide was in the offing. To match Ford, manager Bill Rigney sent Ken McBride, 7-3, to the mound for the Angels.

The two teams trail the Indians by 1 1/2 games.

The Angels could do no wrong Thursday at Fenway Park, which seems to inspire Los Angeles batters more than any other park in the loop. Eli Grba won his fourth game although Bob Botz came on in the eighth to finish up when the starter appeared to tire.

Grba, no great shakes as a hitter, helped his own cause with two hits that drove home four runs.

But Leon Wagner and Bob Rodgers also got in their licks in the 18-hit romp over the helpless Red Sox. Wagner added to his league lead in the homer department with his 21st of the season, a 400-foot wallop into the right field bullpen.

Wagner also leads the league in RBIs with 58, thanks to three he picked up Thursday on his homer and two singles.

Rodgers whacked a 420-foot double and had two other hits while driving three runs across.

The losing pitcher was Don Schwall, the rookie of the year in 1961, who dropped to 2-9 for this season. A total of five Red Sox pitchers did hard labor in the afternoon game, witnessed by 3,903 fans.

Grba gave up eight hits and four runs, while Botz allowed three ninth inning tallies.

The Powder Puffs, girl's softball team, tucked powder puffs in their hip pockets, and scored an 11-10 victory over the Ravens at the rodeo grounds last night.

These softball games are sponsored by the recreation department, and girls interested should contact Janet Griswold at the City Hall.

FULLMER TAKES FIGHT

Davis' Bat Hits a Fan

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—A chastened Willie Davis apologized today for angrily tossing a bat that hit a fan sitting behind the Dodger dugout in Thursday night's game with New York.

Willie, the flashy sophomore who is one of the big reasons Los Angeles is leading the National League, was furious over a third strike call by Umpire Stan Landes in the sixth inning.

Hawkins in Front With 68 Score

Leads Field in $50,000 Western
Open Tournament

CHICAGO (UPI)—Fred Hawkins, the slender Texan looking for his first tournament victory since 1956, led the field into today's second round play of the $50,000 Western Open golf championship. By his own reckoning, Hawkins owned his pace setting 68 to arrow-true drives on Medina Country Club's pencil thin fairways. He didn't mention his putting greens and carried him to four birdies on the par 71 layout.

"My drives had been getting into the most trouble lately," Hawkins said. "I practiced tee shots all last week and it looks as if it's paying off."

He has been in 18 tournaments this year and his best effort was a second place tie with Bob Goalby in the Los Angeles Open. This was worth $3,325 toward the $5,555 Hawkins has earned since January 1. Hawkins played the type of steady golf required on the heavily wooded course, but National Open champion Jack Nicklaus and defending Western titlist Arnold Palmer captured the fancy of the crowd.

An estimated gallery of 5,000 followed Nicklaus and Palmer who were paired in the same threesome along with John Barnum of Belmont, Mich. Nicklaus, who defeated Palmer in the National Open playoff, again outshot his foe, scoring a one under par 70 compared to Palmer's 73.

Only five of the field joined Hawkins in par-busting rounds.

At 69's were Jacky Cupit, Charles Sifford, and Paul Harney. Moon Mullins pulled in with a 70 to tie Nicklaus.

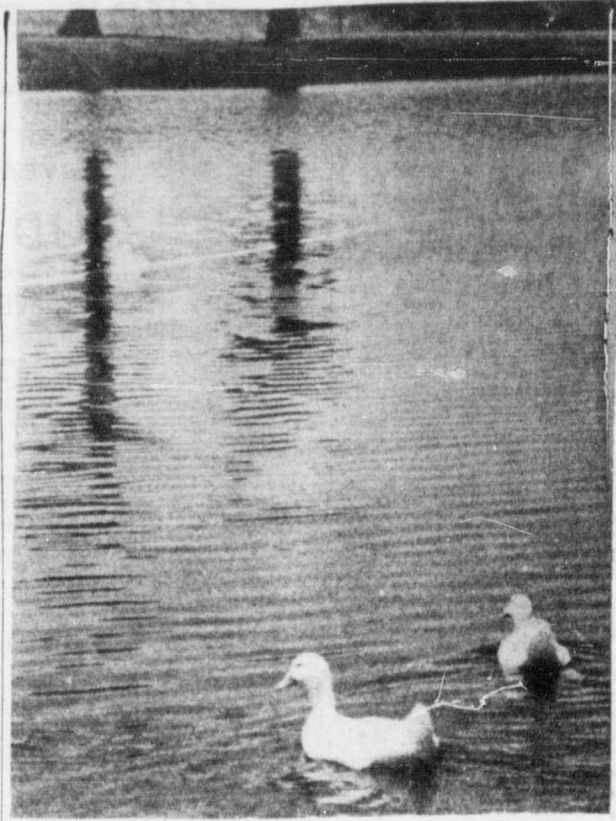

Six players were bunched at 71 and 11 at 72. Among the 71 shooters were Dow Finsterwald, Randy Glover and Sam Snead. George Bayer, Bill Casper and Gary Player were the name players with 72.

Two West Coast Cage Officials Plan to Retire

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Two prominent West Coast basketball officials, Lloyd R. Leith and Al Lightner, have announced their retirement.

The retirements were announced Thursday by Bernie Hammerbeck, commissioner of the bureau, the major officiating organization of the West Coast.

Leith was supervisor of basketball officials for the bureau and Lightner of Salem, Ore., was a veteran basketball official.

Phillies Dump Giants, 7 to 2

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—It night in the second of the four took the Philadelphia Phils nearly game series when Billy O'Dell (8-6) of the Giants faces rookie Dennis Bennett (2-3) of the Phils.

It was on July 19, 1960, that Marichal broke into the majors by "hoomilering" the Phils with a one-hitter. He beat them three more times after that during the next season and a half while only losing to the tailenders only once. Thursday, however, "Don Juan" found his fast ball coming back at him at about twice the speed. Blasting the friendly right-hander for seven hits in seven innings, including three homers, the Phils saved off the Giants' winning streak at five with a 7-2 victory.

As a result, the Giants dropped back into second place behind Los Angeles, which defeated New York to take a half-game edge in the National League race.

Based on Pitching
"This whole game is based on pitching," manager Alvin Dark of the losers philosophized afterwards. "When you don't get it, you don't get a chance to do much."

Linita Tops Field in Vanity 'Cap

INGLEWOOD (UPI)—Linita will carry top weight of 126 pounds and the role of favorite into Saturday's $50,000-added Vanity Handicap—the most lucrative race in Hollywood Park history for the filly-mare division.

Jockey Johnny Longden has agreed to ride Linita, which has been assigned an impost of 126 pounds for the mile and a furlong race against nine probable rivals.

Most of the top fillies and mares in competition during the meeting take a crack at the prize money Saturday. The field, in addition to Linita, includes Bushel-N-Peck with 119 pounds assigned and Queen America, the top filly of the recent Santa Anita meeting, with 114.
